Teirney, R. Ogilvie High School, New Town, Tas, Australia.

Paradis, J. City of London Academy, London, UK.

Fazackerley, C. City of London Academy, London, UK.

“Aim Higher” has been a national initiative in support of gifted students in the UK. The City of London Academy received a grant from the University of Warwick to conduct action learning about the career aspirations of gifted and talented secondary students. The City of London Academy involved Ogilvie High School in Tasmania as a partner school in the action learning. Roslyn Teirney from Ogilvie High and Jill Paradis and Carl Fazackerley from COLA will use state of the art ICT facilities to present students from both institutions in a live chat link to explain the project.
